Travelling across Europe

Travelling is one of the most fun and exciting ways to learn about art, history, geography and the traditions of other countries. You can also learn languages and make new friends in unexpected places.

In 1972, the International Union of Railways created a train ticket that allowed young people, up to 26 years old, to travel throughout the European continent at a low cost. It is a unique and unforgettable way to discover up to 30 European countries.

The ticket was named the InterRail pass and became very popular. Trains filled up with youngsters from different countries. They could get on and off trains as many times as they wished during their InterRail trip. They exchanged their experiences, shared anecdotes and even formed groups to continue their trip together. ■
