

ENGLISH TASK. 5th APRIL.

TOTALLY CULTURE LESSON

Read and listen the text. (Lee y escucha varias veces)

Look up the words you don't know in the dictionary

Then make exercise 1, 2 and 3 in your notebook

You have the listening in the school web and in Moodle(el audio os lo subo a la web del colegio y al Aula Virtual)

If you have some doubts, please ask me(Preguntadme si dudáis algo por favor).

Totally Culture

Watch Totally markets!

1 Read and listen. What are the most popular takeaway meals in the UK?

2 Match the headings to Lana, Finlay or May. Use your notebook. There is one extra.

a A market on the river b Fish and chips c Food from around the world! d A farmers' market

Tam loves going to Borough market in London. Do you visit markets?

Lana's Market

Hi! I'm Lana. Can you guess where this market is? It isn't in India or China. This is a market in London. I can buy food from all around the world here. There are some pockets of tea from India and jars of English jam next to bottles of Spanish olive oil.

You can buy hot Chinese noodles and delicious Indian curry. The market smells amazing!

bottle pocket jar

1 Comment

Alice says: Did you know that the two most popular takeaway meals in the UK are Indian curry and Chinese noodles?

Finlay's Market

I'm Finlay and my family goes to this market every Saturday. It's a traditional farmers' market. Farmers from the local community bring their produce to sell. There is meat and there are lots of vegetables and fruit, and home-made products like jars of chutney and cakes.

Where I live in the north of England, there's a famous kind of sausage. It's called a Cumberland sausage. It's very long. It's delicious!

home-made

1 Comment

Don says: When I go on holiday I always try the local food.

EXCHANGE STUDENT POST

May from Thailand

I'm from Bangkok, which is the capital of Thailand. Bangkok is famous for its floating markets. The stalls are boats. Visitors arrive by boat, too. There are lots of fresh vegetables, and some beautiful flowers.

stalls

4 Read again and say True or False.

- 1 You can't buy any British food in the market in London.
- 2 There is a market on boats in May's city.
- 3 Finlay lives in the north of England.
- 4 There are lots of vegetables for sale in the market in Bangkok.
- 5 There are hot Chinese noodles at the market in London.
- 6 Finlay's family goes to the market every Friday.

52